

Essential stories: Dean, water team member

13 November 2018

Corporate

'Recently, I was fortunate enough to take some extended leave. I really enjoyed the extra time I got to spend with my kids, doing things like playing music with them and helping with homework. I also used my handyman skills to finish off a few things around the house! It's great that the commission values work-life balance for staff and sees how it benefits everyone.'

'At the commission, we are always working towards outcomes that are in the interests of customers. It's a place where ideas and collaboration are highly valued and everyone gets an opportunity to have their say.'

'In June we finished our 2018 water price review, the first under our new pricing framework. I managed the rollout of the framework and the price review.'

'The whole water team can be proud of the changes we've made to our pricing approach. Generally speaking, prices are lower and services are improving, which means customers are getting better value for money. So I think we've made a real difference for the community.'
