

Activity 21A Non Omni-directionality Transition Period.

Should the transition period be extended to 31st July 2019?

SwitchLED has chosen not to purchase non-Omnidirectional product and only purchase accredited Omnidirectional Abulbs.

By doing this we avoid having to determine whether the lighting environment is suitable for installation. By only using Omni directional globes, our installers are able to spend less time on site, maximise every upgrade opportunity and ensure the best end-user outcome secure in the knowledge that Omnidirectional globes can be installed without considering the space.

Secondly, this also makes back office compliance checks, phone & field auditing and internal data auditing much easier not having to check evidence of compliant space types for non omni-directional Abulbs.

The ready availability of compliant omnidirectional stock means we do not have to compromise this position and therefore we can see no reason to extend the current transition period.
