Hello,

I'm writing to urge the Victorian Government to support solar power, and also to urge an increase to the minimum feed-in tariff rates, to make solar power more attractive to home owners.

My husband and I have recently become solar power owners, and despite the incredibly low feed-in tariff that we currently attract, we already find we have greater peace of mind knowing we are helping Australia move towards a clean energy future. My husband is a psychiatric nurse and I am a school teacher, and we both care very much about helping others to proactively change their lives for their own betterment, and for the betterment of Australia and the world as a whole.

Please change legislation so that Victorians have a greater incentive to buy solar power panels for their home. Please become Australia's leading state in the evolution towards climate security and planetary health.

I'm a Greens voter, but I would consider voting for your government if you were able to create real, positive and lasting change in this area.
