

Is there a justification for councils to charge rate twice the CPI rate ? Its time to review and be fair

Hi,

I have read in the newspaper, despite the newly elected Labour government to cap the council rate at CPI, many councils have openly challenge and threaten to cut back services should they not allow to impose the rate they propose.

However, they are not upfront to disclose what services would be reduced. I challenge them to say what services would be impacted.

I am delighted the commission has been directly by the current government to consider property owners views as rate had skyrocketed causing further hardship to the rising cost of living from utilities and insurance costs.

I have encourage my networks to submit their views and protest.

It is our view and hope the commission would act without fear or favour and we deserve a fair go.

We shall see if the commission is looking after the interest of the people or just a window dressing exercise ?

Kind regards,

Steven Yee
