

Gill Scott

Please consider

10/2/16

I would urge everyone involved in the Victorian Government inquiry to consider that most people who have invested in rooftop solar have done so because they think it is the right thing to do for the environment. Nevertheless, I believe they should receive a fair price if/when selling to the grid. Ultimately, rooftop solar power is far more valuable to us all, and delivers way more benefits than dirty, polluting fossil fuels and the price paid should reflect this.